SIDEWALK GAVE WAY

One Hundred People Hurled
From a Bridge.

FORTY-FIVE PERSONS INJURED.

Twenty-five of them quite seriously, several of whom may die—The fall was about thirty feet—The injured properly cared for—Names of those most seriously injured.

BRISTOL, Ind., July 5.—At 6 o'clock yesterday evening while about 300 of the population of Bristol were gathered on a bridge spanning the St. Joseph river watching a tub race, 100 feet of the sidewalk of the bridge went down, carrying with it 100 persons. The fall was about 30 feet and the iron fell on many. The town was crazed with excitement and in a short time the victims of the accident were all removed from the water and all the physicians throughout the surrounding country were summoned to attend the injured. These were cared for as well as circumstances would permit. None were killed outright but several will die.

The list of the injured are:

Dr. C. E. Dutrow, probably fatally.

Clyde Trumbull of Three Rivers, Mich., body and head badly hurt.

Mrs. George W. Williams.

Mrs. Albert Stamp.

Jesse Weso of Elkhart, Ind.

Herbert N. Nicholson, broken leg and arm.

G. B. Floy.

Howard Myers.

Miss Mary Miller.

Arthur Sassaman, Mottsville, Ind.

Mrs. M. Little, both legs broken.

George Roth of Middlebury.

Mrs. Lydia King.

Miss Lydia Trattler of Porter, Mich., foot crushed and neck injured.

Frank Fry, injured internally.

Mrs. E. J. Smith, arm broken.

John Kistner of Elkhart, hip and head.

Miss Stewart.

Charles Carimen.

Met Carimen, had a foot crushed.

Douglas Stewart, injured internally.

Frank Replage, wife and daughter, all badly injured.

Garrett Bloomington.

Jesse Frame of Elkhart, leg broken and hurt internally.

Twenty others have minor injuries.

GRAND STAND FALLS.

Nineteen People Injured, Three of Them It Is Thought Fatally.

BUFFALO, July 5.—The Press Cycling club's meet was held at the driving park yesterday afternoon, and while the last race was in progress, the grand stand collapsed, seriously injuring 19 of the occupants.

Those seriously injured are:

Frank Vester, back injured, will die.

John Gilrayhill, four ribs broken and internally injured, will die.

G. Barrett Rich, president of the Buffalo Commercial bank, left leg fractured.

V. T. Mitchell, clerk Nickel Plato railway, right leg fractured.

Mary Montgomery, collarbone broken and internal injuries.

Mrs. James K. Cuddy, head and face cut and scalp wound.

Mrs. Woods, thigh broken.

Mrs. Howard D. L. Herr, wife of the cashier of the board of public works, jumped from the grand stand. Her legs were broken.

E. S. Pawley, secretary of the Buffalo Driving park, was badly bruised and cut.

Mrs. Frank A. Crandall of Washington had her ankle sprained.

The grand stand was built three years ago by C. C. Hamlin, the millionaire owner of the driving park. It was a handsome structure with steel supports.

MINISTER LYNCHED.

Dragged From His Pulpit by a Mob, Shot and His Throat Cut.

LAKE CITY, Fla., July 5.—Wednesday night at Hope Henry, a colored church, five miles west of here, a party of men took Robert Bennett, a young colored preacher, from the pulpit, carried him a short distance off and lynched him. When the body was found by the roadside yesterday morning the brains were shot out, the throat cut from ear to ear, and both ears cut off.

A protracted meeting was in progress at the church, and the preachers and congregation had all gone to sleep, waiting and watching with "mourners in trance," and it was just before day yesterday morning when the party entered and roused Bennett, who was asleep in the pulpit, and dragged him out over another preacher and took him away.

His offense, it is said, was an assault upon a white woman in Sowavee county recently, and from then the lynchers are said to have come. The usual warning was left attached to the body.

SPRINGING PREVENTS A LYNCHING.

A Constable Shoots a Man at a Picnic but Gets Away.

PITTSBURG, July 5.—Good springing on the part of Constable Duval at Ross grove last night prevented a lynching. Charles Bauer attended a picnic yesterday. He saw a friend of his getting the worst of it in a fight and went to his assistance. Just then Constable Duval appeared and Bauer tried to run away. Duval shot him in the back, inflicting what is supposed to be a fatal wound.

The crowd became so excited over the affair that a rope was procured and they started after the constable. The mob chased him until he was lost in the darkness, throwing at him any kind of missile they could find. Several shots were also fired at him, and it is reported that he was wounded.

SUICIDE OR ACCIDENT.

Charles D. Sherwood's Body Found Floating in the Lake at Chicago.

CHICAGO, July 5.—Charles D. Sherwood, ex-lieutenant governor of Minnesota, has been found dead, floating in the lake at the foot of Peck Court. It was undoubtedly a case of suicide. Mr. Sherwood came to Chicago last March to have a surgical operation performed. He was under the care of Dr. Hall of Grand Crossing. He left the Victoria hotel where he was staying and half an hour later his body was found in the water.

Twenty years ago Mr. Sherwood was one of the most prominent politicians in Minnesota. He came west from New Milford, Conn., his birthplace, in 1856, and settled at Rushford, Minn. He was a doctor by profession, but he abandoned that calling a few years later and took up the practice of law. As a lawyer Mr. Sherwood was one of the most successful in Minnesota. Mr. Sherwood entered politics early in life and his rise was almost meteoric. After serving as congressman from the Rushford district he was twice elected lieutenant governor of Minnesota. As president of the state senate he was said to be the ablest parliamentarian of his time.

Some 10 or 15 years ago Mr. Sherwood went to Tennessee, where a town was named for him. His widow and two children live there now. He was president of a lime quarry near Sherwood, and owned large tracts in that vicinity.

Mr. Sherwood became interested with General Alger of Michigan in land speculation several years ago, and together they at one time owned large holdings in Tennessee and Minnesota. It is said that Mr. Sherwood acted as counsel for General Alger for several years.

George Sherwood, the well known book publisher of this city, who died about a year ago, was a brother of the dead man.

For the last six weeks Mr. Sherwood had been confined to his room most of the time.

Two Illinois Central switchmen first saw his body floating in the lake. Papers found on the dead man's clothing served to identify him. A coroner's jury gave a verdict of drowning, but whether Mr. Sherwood committed suicide or was drowned by accident the jury was unable to say.

When Mr. Sherwood's room was searched an old silver watch was found on the bed. The timepiece had been given to him by General Tom Thumb when the latter first came into public notice.

KENTUCKY POPULISTS.

The State Convention at Louisville but Slimly Attended.

LOUISVILLE, July 5.—The Populist convention was conspicuous by the slim attendance, about 150 delegates being present. The convention was called to order at 12 o'clock by W. T. B. South, chairman of the state committee. After a few unimportant resolutions preliminary to permanent organization the convention adjourned.

When the convention met at 2 o'clock the various committees were selected by the congressional districts. There were about 200 delegates present at the afternoon session. Mr. Lewis Johnston was made permanent chairman and W. P. Marsh permanent secretary. Reports of minor committees were received. The afternoon was occupied with speeches by Professor N. V. Rork and J. B. Osbourne of Atlanta on Populist principles. Mrs. Josephine K. Henry of Versailles, Ky., addressed the convention in behalf of woman suffrage.

The convention adjourned at 5 o'clock to allow the committee on resolutions to report. The resolutions will be strong for free silver.

The convention will undoubtedly finish its work today, as no contests are looked for.

She Shot in Self-Defense.

CHATANOOGA, July 5.—Ben Coggin and his wife Martha live on an island in the Tennessee river opposite this city, and cultivate a small truck farm. Yesterday morning Coggin forbade his wife to come to the city to witness the Fourth of July celebration, but she came nevertheless. In the afternoon, about 6 o'clock, when she returned home, Coggin began abusing her, striking her with a stick, finally seizing a hatchet and started toward her. The woman took up a shotgun standing near by and discharged the contents into Coggin's left side, killing him instantly. The woman was arrested.

Notorious Desperado Arrested.

DENISON, Tex., July 5.—Sheriff Hughes has under arrest John H. Thompson, believed to be the notorious Joab Stevens, whose bloody exploits in this and other counties are still fresh in the minds of citizens. Stevens, until recently, was believed to be dead. Fifteen years ago he killed a man at Lake Charles, La. Shortly afterward he was concerned in the killing of two men named Milton and Jones in Titus county. In 1880, near Dexter, he killed a constable named Hodges. He fled to the territory and killed a man named Coleman who was pursuing him.

Regatta After the Big Fight.

AUSTIN, Tex., July 5.—Austin will supplement the Corbett-Fitzsimmons fight by giving a grand international regatta after the event. One thousand dollars will be offered for single sculls, $1,000 for double sculls and $2,000 for a four-oared shell.

DISGRACEFUL AFFAIR

A Fourth of July Parade Ends in a Pitched Battle.

AN A. P. A. EMBLEM THE CAUSE.

Sticks, Stones, Sabers and Revolvers Were Used With Fatal Effects—One Man Instantly Killed While Another One Is Dying—A Number of Others Were Badly Wounded and May Not Recover.

BOSTON, July 5.—The Fourth of July parade of the patriotic societies of Boston and vicinity at East Boston, yesterday afternoon, ended in a pitched battle between some of the parades and the spectators, in which sticks, stones and revolvers were used with fatal effect.

John W. Willis, a laborer of East Boston, one of the spectators, was shot and instantly killed; Michael Boyle of East Boston had his head split open with a club and now lies dying in a city hospital. A young man named Stewart had his nose cut off with a saber in the hands of one of the parades; Patrick Kelly sustained a severe scalp wound, whether from a club or a bullet is not known, and Officer A. S. Bates was hit in the mouth by a brick thrown by an unknown person, and lost several teeth, besides suffering from severe lacerations.

It is claimed that the trouble all resulted from the persistence of those who managed the parade in introducing a feature, a float presenting the "Little Red Schoolhouse," which, from its association as the emblem of the American Protective Association, has become obnoxious to many persons, especially those who do not sympathize with the A. P. A. movement.

The Fourth of July committee refused to permit this feature to appear in the parade, and those desiring to prevent it tried to have an order passed by the board of aldermen, but failed. So great was the interest excited by this controversy and the expressed determination of the parades to display the schoolhouse that finally 80,000 visitors gathered at east Boston.

The police officials, in anticipation of some hostile demonstration, had a special squad of 350 men in addition to the Boston force on duty, but they marched at the head of the procession. At several points the feeling of the crowd was given vent in hisses at the 1,500 parades and the schoolhouse, but no further demonstration was made until the rear of the parade had reached Putnam street, when the crowd tried to overturn the last carriage.

Word was sent to the front for police assistance, and a squad of 20 officers were sent back. A skirmish followed between the crowd and the officers, and Michael Doyle received a fractured skull. A man named Stewart of Brooks street had his nose cut off by a saber in the hands of Albert E. Andrews of Everett, a private in the Rosebury horse guards.

When the parade broke up and those who had participated were proceeding in companies to the ferry, in order to reach this city, a group of between 60 and 70 was surrounded on Boarder street by a crowd, who commenced hooting and throwing stones. A dozen revolvers were drawn, and in response to the fusillade of stones, eight or nine shots were fired. The firing of revolvers brought a large body of police to the spot and the mob was soon dispersed. As the scene was cleared, the officers found John Wills dead in the street with a bullet hole in his right side, and Patrick A. Kelly lying seriously wounded about the head. It was learned later that several other persons had been slightly injured, all of whom were taken away by their friends.

The police arrested Harold Brown and John Ross as the principals who did the shooting. It is claimed by six witnesses, who were taken to the stationhouse, that Brown did the shooting which killed Wills and wounded Kelly. Ross is said to have injured several others, who were taken away by their friends. Wills, the murdered man, is a laborer by occupation, and leaves a widow and six children. There is deep feeling over the affair throughout the city.

MRS. O'LEARY DEAD.

She Was the Owner of the Famous Cow That Set Chicago on Fire in 1871.

CHICAGO, July 5.—Mrs. Catherine O'Leary died yesterday. She was the owner of the famous cow which, in a barn in the rear of 137 De Koven street, on a memorable night in October, 1871, kicked over a lamp and started a blaze which cost Chicago $190,000,000.

Since the night of that historic conflagration Mrs. O'Leary's life was embittered by the popular belief that she indirectly was responsible for the loss of life and enormous destruction of property. She denied the story vigorously, and to the commission which investigated the fire and its causes, made affidavit, stating that the allegations about herself and the cow and the lamp were not true, but the world was against her. Then she became silent. Entreaties and flattering monetary offers were alike unavailing. She would say neither yes nor no to her friends, and a request to tell the story for publication usually aroused her to a pitch of frenzy.

Sensational Eloping.

RALEIGH, July 5.—Dr. J. K. Battle of this county, aged 80, has created a sensation by eloping with and marrying the 13-year-old daughter of C. J. Bright. Marriage license was obtained by a friend who, it is said, made an incorrect statement as to the girl's age.

DESPERATE BREAK FOR LIBERTY. Three Alleged Postoffice Thieves Escape From Ludlow Street Jail.

NEW YORK, July 5.—The three alleged postoffice thieves, Joseph Killoran, Charles Allen and Harry Russell, who are wanted at Springfield, Ills., escaped from Ludlow street jail yesterday. The prisoners were about to take their daily exercise in the yard of the jail. Keepers Edward Schneer and Charles Schoen were in the office of the jail, the former sitting with his back to the door and Schoen was walking about the room.

The three men entered the office at the same time. Russell leveled a revolver at the head of Schoen and two others covered Schneer with their weapons. They threatened to kill the keepers if outcry was made.

Allen took the keys from Schneer while the other two still held their revolvers at the head of Schoen. With the keys he opened the door leading to the vestibule. The three men passed out closing the door and locking it, thus making the keepers prisoners within. These keys they then threw into the vestibule. Allen opened the front door with a large brass key and the three were in the street.

On leaving the jail Killoran, Allen and Russell stood on the steps a few feet from the door, and, looking up and down the street, they hesitated a few moments, when they ran toward Broad and Lake streets, shouting loudly "Police! police!" "Step thief!" and similar cries, creating the impression that they were in pursuit of a flying thief.

At Broome street the men separated, Allen running into Orchard street, Russell going down Broome to Essex street and Killoran running toward Orchard street to Grand street and thence in the direction of the Bowery.

John Appel, a butcher, gave chase to Allen and kept him in sight until he reached Houston street and First avenue. There Allen turned around and shouted: "If you follow me any farther I'll fill you with lead," making a motion toward his hip pocket as he uttered the threat. Appel then took to his heels, but, looking over his shoulder, saw Allen crossing First street in a diagonal direction toward the Bowery.

PLANNED TRAGEDY CARRIED OUT.

An Editor Kills His Wife, Baby and Himself With a Razor.

MEADVILLE, Mo., July 5.—S. A. Fields, until recently editor of The Post, at Polo, Mo., cut the throats of his wife and baby with a razor yesterday and then ended his own life in the same manner. The bodies were found in a garden about 200 yards from the residence of his mother-in-law, who lives near here.

Fields, his wife and little boy were visiting his mother-in-law, Mrs. William Thomas, two miles northeast of this place. They went out in the pasture, and the supposition is Fields cut his little boy's throat, then his wife's and then his own. No reason is given for the deed. A note was found on Mrs. Fields saying everything they had was to be left to her mother, Mrs. Thomas. It seems that Fields and his wife had planned the tragedy, for she went into the house after they went out and put on an old dress and then returned to the pasture.

REVENGE STOREKEEPER KILLED.

Robbery Was the Motive—Another Distillery Robbed and Burned.

Raleigh, July 5.—Revenue officials are notified that the warehouses of the registered whisky distillery of P. C. Sanders, at Marotock, was plundered and burned, 40 barrels of whisky being stolen. Some of these were found on an island in the river, and the remainder was buried in a field.

Generally fair weather; variable winds, becoming southerly.

"We are still on the gold basis," remarks the Baltimore Sun, "yet cotton, oil, wheat, beef, corn, leather and iron are advancing. Idle factories are resuming work, wages are improving, the railroads report larger earnings, bonds and stocks sell better, and clearing house returns show vastly increased transactions. The calamity argument is, in fact, belated. The silver campaign is already a back number. It is useless to try to fire enthusiasm for a remedy after the disease is cured, or when the patient is already on the sure road to recovery."

UP GOES IRON AND WAGES.

Advance of One Quickly Followed
By the Other.

YOUNGSTOWN, O., June 28.—An important meeting of the Iron Manufacturers' Association of the United States was held here this afternoon, and it was unanimously decided to advance the price of bar iron $2 per ton, taking effect at once, making an advance of $4 per ton within the past thirty days. The advance will have the effect of further increasing the wages of iron workers.

PHOENIXVILLE, PA., June 28.—The Phoenix Iron and Bridge Company of this place, employing about 2,000 hands, to-day posted notices in all its departments that an increase of wages will be given all the employees July 1. The amount was not stated, but it is believed that it will be 10 per cent.

SCRANTON, PA., June 28.—The Greenridge Iron Works to-day notified their employees of an increase of 10 per cent. in wages to go into effect July 1.

WON ONE, LOST ONE.

Maysville Broke Even in the Games With the Shamrocks at Cincinnati Yesterday.

The Maysvilles broke even in the games with the Shamrocks at League Park, Cincinnati, yesterday.

The locals won the morning game by a score of 8 to 5, and the Shamrocks the afternoon game by a score of 9 to 6.

Had it not been for some rank playing in the first inning of the last game the locals would have routed the Shams at all points.

"Kid" Keenan was in the box for Maysville in the forenoon and pitched a nice game. He has plenty of speed, and excellent command. In only one inning were the Shamrocks able to find him, and that was in the eighth when they hit him for four singles, and scored four runs. He was given very good support.

The sensational plays of the game were McGann's running catch of a drive to right, Tenley's daring steal to home while the ball was in the hands of the Shamrock's first baseman, and Behle and Eagan's double steal. Rieman made the longest hit of the game, a drive to center fence for three bases. It would have been a home run on grounds like Maysville's. The score:

Left on bases, Maysville 6, Shamrocks 7. Stolen bases, Cox, Tenley, Behle, Eagan. Time of game, 2 hours. Umpire, Bug Holliday.

AFTERNOON GAME.

The Maysvilles gave an exhibition of "rocky" ball playing in the opening inning of the second game. Rieman was in the box, and for once he got badly rattled. The first man up was hit by pitched ball. The second walked to first on four bad ones. This started the business, and the Shamrocks, by hitting safely two or three times, aided by some bad work in the field by the Maysvilles, were able to score seven runs before they were retired. This was enough to take the life out of most any team, but the Maysvilles pulled themselves together and almost succeeded in getting out of the hole. After the first inning Rieman held the Shamrocks down to four hits, and had good support. It was impossible, however, to overcome the fatal first. The features of the game were several pretty double plays and Eagan's great running catch of Hall's drive to left. The score:

THE RACES.

A Fair Crowd Witnessed the Opening July 4th.

The Winners—The Fields Will All Be Large To-day and To-morrow.

The initial running races at the Maysville fair grounds were inaugurated yesterday. The many attractions at other points took a great many people out of town, and the attendance at the races was for this reason not as large as it would otherwise have been. Still a very fair crowd was present, and witnessed some good racing.

The Maysville Band intertained the people between races with some good music.

The track was in good condition. Five races were on the program. The first was a dash of six furlongs for a purse of $125, $100 to first and $25 to second. Seven horses started. They were well bunched and the finish was close. King Howard won, Siluria second and Tramp finished third. Time, 1:15½.

Second race, six furlongs,—heats. Purse $150; $100 to first, $35 to second and $15 to third. Five horses started. First heat, Mary Lou 1, Little Anna 2, Inferior 3. Time 1:16. In the second heat these three horses finished in the same order. Time 1:16½.

The third race didn't fill.

Fourth race, four and one-half furlongs for two-year-olds. Purse $150; $100 to first, $35 to second and $15 to third. Colonel Dick, Trenon, Typewriter, G. D. Wilson, Harry Keene and St. Lee started. St. Lee finished first, Trenon second, G. D. Wilson third. Time :57.

Fifth race, six furlongs, for maidens. Purse $100; $75 to first and $25 to second. Dogheart, Miss Lou, Pigmy, Willis, Happy John, Tupto, Richindon and Little Con started in this. Miss Lou won, Pigmy second and Happy John third. Time 1:16.

The races will be all run off this afternoon and to-morrow according to program, beginning at 2:30 each afternoon. Admission 50 cents.

The fields will all be large.

Go out and enjoy the sport. The electric cars will take you right to the grand stand.

DROPPED DEAD.

Organic Disease of the Heart Caused the Death of H. H. Robbins Yesterday.

Mr. H. H. Robbins dropped dead yesterday morning, of organic disease of the heart, at his home on the Lexington pike just outside the city limits.

He had been under the care of a physician for the past three months and was advised of his condition. He had spent a bad night, suffering a great deal, and shortly after arising took a walk contrary to his physician's instructions. On returning he went to the yard to feed his chickens, and while thus engaged was heard making a cry as though suffering intense pain. He fell forward from a chair that he was sitting in and expired in a few minutes.

He was seventy-three years of age, and leaves a wife and one son.

Coroner John D. Roe was called and after viewing the remains rendered a verdict as above.

The funeral will take place Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

HELUM AND ARGON.

Too New Discoveries That May Work Wonders—The Latest Thing in Gas.

[New York World.]

Following close in the track of argon, another new gas, hitherto unknown and unsuspected, has been found, and scientists are anxiously waiting for reports from the laboratories where it is now being experimented with. There is no knowing as yet what the new gas is capable of.

Argon, which from the earliest times men had been breathing into their lungs without knowing it, has been shown to be the cause of the aurora borealis. Helium, the newest of the gases, it is now suspected, may be the cause of other mysteries which for ages have puzzled the scientific world. It is entirely different from argon, although both were discovered almost simultaneously.

Argon is found in the atmosphere, and when condensed under enormous pressure it looks like cheese. Helium is found in certain minerals and when extracted it bears a resemblance to butter. The experiments that have thus far been made with helium show that it bears a curious and strange relationship to argon, and the two when combined may produce results of a startling character.

Their nature is radically different. Helium is lighter than nitrogen. Is it possible, ask many scientists, that herein may be found the solution of the balloon problem? Helium, it is suggested, when carried in small quantities in the pocket may lift men from the earth, when all that is needed is machinery to make them fly! Helium, it is thought, will make an explosive so terrible that the only objection to it is it will do too much damage. This is when it is combined with other elements, but when handled pure it is harmless.

Yet this strange gas taken from the earth and whose presence was hitherto unsuspected and undreamed of, and which has only been discovered by an accident, may, it is now pointed out, revolutionize chemistry even more than argon. Its possibilities may spread through the entire domain of physics.

Unlike argon, helium, so far as is known, is not an illuminant. It does not give forth the weird light obtained from argon by Prof. Berthelot, and which he has identified with the aurora borealis. But helium is less easily controllable than argon. The latter, it is suggested, may be the essential principle of light, while helium gives suggestions of being the essential principle of force. Lodged in certain minerals, it is supposed to be present in the earth in stupendous quantities, as is argon in the air, and the one is the complement of the other.

Council some time ago agreed to donate to the Historical Society $50 a year, and on motion of Mr. Newell it was ordered paid.

The report of the City Auctioneer was read, and as it was something unusual for that official to make a report to Council, the Mayor explained why the report was made. It seems the executors of the late Thomas Wells object to paying the auctioneer's fees for some reason or other. The report was referred to the proper committee.

The Laws and Ordinance Committee presented an ordinance in reference to the telephone franchise, the ordinance not to be published until bond was furnished by purchaser.

The Wharfmaster's reports for the months of May and June were read.

Action on the petition in reference to opening up Vine street was postponed.

The C. and O. signals at the crossings in the Fifth ward were the subject of severe criticism by some members of Council, but no action was taken.

The gutters in several places on Second, Grant and Sixth streets were ordered improved.

Building permit was granted Richard Huffman, of the Sixth ward.

Hayes Thomas asked permission to enlarge stable and coal house. Protest was presented and matter was referred to Committee on Propositions and Grievances.

Liquor license was granted James Maher.

The liquor license of William Fitzgerald, of Wall street, was transferred to Bruce Crawford.

The salaries of the fire companies were ordered paid.

Mr. Grant Killpatrick was granted auctioneer's license.

City Attorney Chamberlain was ordered to prosecute the case against R. M. Wallingford.

Mr. Ball asked that the city pension list be revised. Referred to Alms Committee.

The Ways and Means Committee was ordered to sell four bonds of $500 each to raise money necessary to pay current expenses.

PHOENIX, ARIZONA.

A Germantown Citizen Writes Interestingly of His Trip to the Southwest.

[Correspondence of the BULLETIN.]

On Tuesday, May 21st, party of Kentuckians left Cincinnati for Phoenix, Arizona. They travelled by way of the Big Four to Chicago and thence by the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe road to Ash Fork, Arizona, where they changed to the new Santa Fe, Prescott and Phoenix road and reached Phoenix Saturday night, May 25th, making in all a distance of 2,455 miles.

It has already been announced in the local papers that the purpose of this trip was to investigate the agricultural and fruit lands proposed to be irrigated by the Rio Verde Canal Co., now in course of construction, and it was to the writer a visit of pleasure and health as well. I am pleased to say that I am having a good time and that my health has been greatly improved. I left home with a stubborn case of the grippe, but the genial climate of the Salt River valley has entirely relieved me from the effects of that treacherous malady. For the benefit of those of my friends who are sportively inclined, I must tell them that we had a rare lot of fun shooting prairie-dogs and jack-rabbits from the train. As we were passing through the prairie dog settlements of Colorado the temptation to knock over a few of them was so strong that we got our guns and prepared for action. Shooting from the train as a rule is prohibited, and the conductor seemed to think we could not hit the little fellows from a train going fifty miles an hour, but with a little practice we soon showed him a trick which surprised him. We tumbled them over in great shape. The first jack-rabbit I ever saw was sitting on a prairie-dog mound. At first sight I thought it was a young male, but when my friend Hudson shouted "shoot! shoot! that's a jack-rabbit," I fired away and let him have it between the eyes. A curious sight which we met in this connection was a large hawk which had built its nest in a telegraph pole. I am not going to tell you any fish stories. I had just killed a hawk on the wing a short time previously, but when this unusual sight met my view I got excited and missed it, but I am going to lay it for it on my return.

In compliance with my promise to give a short description of this part of Uncle Sam's domain, and believing that many of our Eastern friends, like your humble correspondent, have had but a faint conception of Arizona, its resources and possibilities, the following is contributed. Arizona is about 280 miles from north to south and 320 miles from east to west, embracing about 113,000 square miles. In altitude it ranges from below sea level on the south to 13,000 feet above on the north. It is the newest, freshest and most interesting country I have ever visited. There is probably no other State or Territory which has such a variety of scenery, fauna and climate. In the south central portion grow all of the semi-tropical plants, while in the northern parts the mountains are perpetually clad in snow. Within a distance of 250 miles from north to south can be found the most delightful summer and winter climates. Phoenix on the south with an elevation of 1,650 feet is probably the best all-the-year-round climate in the United States, while Flagstaff on the north with an elevation of 7,000 feet is destined to be a popular summer resort.

The celebrated hot springs of Arizona rival those of Arkansas. The ruins of the prehistoric ages are found in many parts of the Territory, and here also are found the ruins of the cave and cliff-dwellers, those diabolical people who made their homes in the cliffs of the mountains some of which overhang deep canons thousands of feet below. Space forbids any suitable description, but we cannot forget mentioning the Grand Canyon of the Colorado. Here tower vast mountains for many miles with their perpendicular walls receding thousands of feet heavenward. In some places entirely obscuring the sun, and from the bottom of this immense gorge can be seen the stars of heaven nearly as distinct as at night. And here only can be seen the great petrified forests which have excited the curiosity of the world.

But what of Phoenix and the Salt River Valley, you would like to know.

Phoenix, the metropolis of the territory, the capital of Arizona and the county seat of Maricopa, is situated near the center of the county. It is a thriving little city of some eight thousand inhabitants. It sprang up out of the desert a few years ago, has sixty new buildings now in course of construction, and is growing rapidly. It has competing lines of railways, with two proposed new roads. It has water works, a fire department, electric lights, electric street railway, six banks, six large hotels, with a new $10,000 hotel now in course of construction, many large stores and massive business blocks which present a genuine city-like appearance. There are two ice manufacturing plants, two large flouring mills and many other manufacturing industries. Most of the churches are represented here. There are three large school buildings. The schools maintain a high standard, none but first-class teachers being admitted, and the school system of the territory is equal to any in the United States.

The population of Phoenix is mostly Eastern, representing Eastern enterprise, stability and refinement. There are Kentuckians here also, and they entertain us Kentuckians only know how to do. There is also a slight sprinkling of Chinese, Japanese, Mexicans, Spaniards, Danes, Swedes, Germans, French, Negroes and Indians, and we must not forget to mention the irrepressible cow boy.

With this kind of a mixed population one would naturally suppose that this is "the wild and wooly west" which we read about, but there is probably no place in the United States where life is held more sacred and where crimes are less frequent. As a matter of fact, there is only one policeman in Phoenix, (the City Marshal), and I can not tell you what manner of man he is. I have never been able to see him.

In my next I will tell the readers of the HERALD something about the wonderful Salt River Valley.

THAT BANK TAX DECISION.

The Result of the Ruling as Some People Are Figuring It Out.

The Frankfort Capital has this interesting statement concerning the decision of the Court of Appeals in the bank-tax cases:

Some of those who have been figuring on the result of the recent Court of Appeals decision with regard to the bank taxes have suggested that the decision will result not only in preventing an increase of the number of banks in this State, but lessening the number within the next ten years. They say that new banks will not be organized, because they would not be exempt from local taxation, the biggest taxation of all, and would therefore be too much handicapped to successfully compete with those old banks that were chartered far enough back to come under the provisions of the exempting act that has been declared a contract. Then again, a number of banks have been chartered since the passage of the Hewitt (contract) act. The question is, will they not have to pay the big local tax wherever they are located, and will not, at least some of them, be swamped by the unequal burden they will have to assume in their competition with the older institutions that do not have to pay this big local taxation and, therefore, are not compelled to earn so great an income? Again, the charters of many banks expire sooner than those of other banks, and when this expiration comes will they not have to pay this big and "rainy" taxation before their neighbors with charters that do not expire so soon?

TEN PER CENT. RAISE

Read These Dispatches, You Calamity Howlers, Then Think Awhile.

CHICAGO, July 1.—The increase of 10 per cent. in wages recently announced by the Illinois Steel Company, went into effect to-day. Over seven thousand men will be benefited by the change. The advance has been made at the South Chicago works, the North Chicago rolling-mills and the plants at Milwaukee and Joliet. All classes of employees are included in the advance, with the exception of the tonnage men, who work on a sliding scale.

Omaha's Mystery Still Unexplained.
OMAHA, July 5.—Though 20 police and detectives have constantly been engaged on the case of John Seljan, who was butchered for his money and his body mysteriously removed, no light has been cast on the strange affair. It is now believed the victim was thrown into the river. The trunks shipped to St. Louis from the house in which the murder occurred were intercepted at Kansas City. It developed that they were taken from the house before the murder occurred, and contained nothing touching on the crime.

CROP PROSPECTS IN THIS STATE.

What the Kentucky Weather Service Says of the Outlook at the Present Time.

The average temperature of the past week varied but slightly from the normal. The amount of rainfall for the entire State was probably slightly in excess of the normal, but it was not distributed uniformly. Generally speaking, the central and eastern counties received considerably more than other sections, the extreme western counties reporting the smallest amounts as a rule. It is estimated that more than three-fourths of the area of the State received rain during the week of sufficient amount to materially assist all growing crops. The average tone of reports received from correspondents this week is more cheerful, and indicates an improving condition of agricultural interests.

The harvesting of wheat is nearly completed in all but the central and eastern counties, and threshing has commenced in the western sections this week and will be in full progress in the central part of the State within the course of the next five days. Reports regarding the amount and quality of the crop are so conflicting that it is difficult to form an average estimate of it. Many correspondents state that the weather conditions of the season were not favorable for the production of a full crop, and a good proportion of them report less than an average yield. In several of the central counties the crop is reported to be less than half the average. Generally speaking, the yield is better in the western and southwestern counties than in other portions of the State.

Oats have been greatly improved by the rains of the past two weeks and the outlook for a good crop is much better now than was anticipated some time back. In a few places the grain has been damaged to some extent by heavy, local showers. In some few sections cutting has begun and a good yield is reported.

Reports from all sections of the State indicate that the condition of corn is the most promising for several years, and the present prospect is for a very large yield. The weather conditions of the past month have been peculiarly favorable to its growth and recovery from the drawbacks to which it was subjected from frost and worms earlier in the season. The crop is unusually free of weeds and grasses, the weather conditions having been such as to permit of its early cultivation. It is still slightly behind its average condition at this season, but with a continuance of favorable weather for the next ten days, it will have attained its usual stage of growth.

Early planted tobacco is generally doing well, but that portion of the crop recently transplanted is suffering for rain in many localities, especially that upon high ground. The majority of correspondents report the outlook from fair to good, and the general condition of the crop appears to be better in the central districts than in other parts of the State. Complaints are most numerous from correspondents in the extreme northern counties.

Though pastures and meadows were improved by the recent rains, their present condition is still much below the average. Correspondents reporting relative to the prospective yield of hay, are almost unanimous in the opinion that it will be very short. Some has already been cut and in many instances only half a crop was harvested. Clover has been cut and the yield reported to be fair. Pasture grasses are very short, especially in the hilly districts.

Garden crops are still late, but are slowly recovering their normal condition. Vegetables of all kinds will be plentiful, especially potatoes, which are generally reported to be in excellent condition. Early green corn will be harvested during the coming week. Sweet potatoes are reported to be poor, as a rule. Some planting of late Irish potatoes was done during the week.

Small fruits are yielding fairly well, and apples promise a good crop in most localities. Peaches are not very promising in most sections.

Castoria.

"Castoria is an excellent medicine for children. Mothers have repeatedly told me of its good effect upon their children."

DR. G. C. OSGOOD,

Lowell, Mass.

"Castoria is the best remedy for children which I am acquainted. I hope the day is not far distant when mothers will consider the real interest of their children, and use Castoria instead of the various quack nostrums which are destroying their loved ones, by forcing opium, morphine, soothing syrup and other hurtful agents down their throats, thereby sending them to premature graves."
